Essex, Leicestershire and Warwickshire, together with Derbyshire, were given first-class status in 1894, but did not compete in the County Championship until 1895. Hampshire were brought in to the Championship in 1895, and it is now accepted that they were also first-class between 1864-1870, 1875-1878 and 1880-1885, all dates inclusive. Worcestershire were admitted in 1899, Northamptonshire in 1905, Glamorgan in 1921 and Durham in 1992.

Note: The match 'Derbyshire with Barlow' v The United North of England Eleven at Salfersgate, Chesterfield in 1875, although first-class, was not recognised by the club as a Derbyshire match, and therefore the team and individual records from the match are, where appropriate, listed as 'other first-class' throughout all of the following records, and the match is excluded from the above table.

The feat of three victories in succession in inter-county matches was also achieved in 1874 and 1894 and there were four in consecutive matches in 1891 whilst Derbyshire were of second-class status.

The sequence in 1953 extended over four scheduled games, one of which was abandoned without a ball being bowled.

The sequence in 1958/59 was the last game of 1958 and the first two of 1959. The first three games of 1959 were all won but one was a non-Championship match.

The three victories in 1913, 1954 and 2002 were also in the first three games of the season, all in the County Championship.
